About LSAMP

The Louis Stokes Alliance for Minority Participation is dedicated to increasing the number of under-represented students* in college and receiving 4-year degrees in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics. Seven Upstate New York institutions have joined forces to support student success.

Together, these schools provide funding, research opportunities, tutoring, and mentoring services for students in the LSAMP program. Our goal is to provide students with experiences that will build a strong foundation for their future.
